43 Perish In Three Air Tragedies

Dramatic Effort Saves 49

U. S. Airliner 'Ditched' At Sea

(Compiled from Wire Dispatches)

The death toll in three widely separated airplane crashes stood at 43 today, a tabulation showed, while 49 others were rescued in a dramatic air-sea search.

Thirty-two persons were reported killed near Madrid, Colombia, when a DC-3 transport smashed into a hill. Bodies of the 23 men and nine women passengers, none Americans, were scattered over a radius of 600 yards.

Near Galway, Ireland, an American four-engined airliner bellied into the Atlantic in the early morning darkness today. Nine of its 58 passengers were killed but small ships and planes teamed up to effect the rescue of 49 persons. One of those rescued was Ruth Nichols, 48, noted American aviatrix.

TWO BURN TO DEATH

The third crash was that of a twin-engine plane from Chanute Field, Ill., which fell in flames near Shelbyville, Tenn., this morning. An eyewitness reported two persons were trapped in the wrecked and fiercely burning aircraft. The victims were not identified.

In the Atlantic crash, the big Skymaster, bound from Rome to New York with 47 Italian emigrants to Venezuela and 11 Americans aboard, overshot Shannon airport. Another American airliner tried to escort it back to Shannon, but the Skymaster's gasoline gave out and it plopped into the calm sea 15 miles off the Irish coast.

One of the most dramatic rescue operations in history, carried out by aircraft and small ships, followed the disaster. The thrilling rescues were carried out under the guidance of planes which circled the crash area, radioing signals of instructions constantly throughout the hours before and after dawn.

Speedy action by planes and seacraft which dashed to the scene the moment an S. O. S. was received was credited for the low death toll in what might have been one of the worst disasters in commercial aviation history.

Transocean Airlines, owners of the plane, said the Brtish fishing trawler Stalberg and an Irish steamer raced to the scene and soon picked up 49 survivors. The Stalberg rushed to Galway with the survivors. The trawler also had aboard two bodies of crash victims.

Arms Plan Faces Fight

WASHINGTON — (AP) — House leaders gave President Truman's $1,450,000,000 arms aid program top priority today. They still weren't too confident they could steer it through a storm of mounting opposition.

The House foreign affairs committee tentatively decided to take final action at today's session. The rules committee is ready to clear it promptly for House debate starting probably Wednesday or Thursday.

While the bill stands a better chance to emerge without major change from the foreign affairs committee, the story in the House itself may be entirely different.

Opponents of granting the full amount requested by President Truman to help friendly nations arm against possible aggression have given up the fight in the committee, where they lost by a tie vote. But they are determined to renew the fight when the bill reaches the House.

They want the program cut in half and its life limited to an interim period ending next March 31, after which Congress could renew it or stop it cold.

Adam Seeks Eve, Loses Girl Friends

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Adam M. P. Voelker, who has been looking for an Eve, advised today against young men using newspaper advertisements in their search for a life-mate.

Voelker, 27, received "hundreds" of calls following his recent want-ad plea for a wife.

"The whole thing backfired," he said. "Now I'm losing girls instead of gaining them."

Pair Tries To Wreck Patrol Car

Youths Hunted In Auto Theft

State patrol posts throughout eastern Ohio were alerted today for two teen-aged hitch-hikers who fled from a stolen car near Lucas after attempting to wreck a pursuing state patrol car.

A third youth, apprehended in the stolen car by patrolmen, was bound over to the Richland county grand jury today under $1,500 bond after pleading guilty to operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent. The youth, identified as Grant W. Tyler, 18, of Hartford, Mich., appeared before Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler.

The car in which Tyler was apprehended, was reported stolen from the Kotchoff restaurant, 1100 Park avenue east road about 11 p. m. Saturday. Forty minutes later Tyler was in custody after state highway patrolmen fired shots into the air to warn the fleeing youths.

Patrolmen said the owner of the car was Ellsworth Sickles, Mansfield, R. D. 2. Route 39 between the restaurant and Lucas was patroled until the car was sighted.

Patrolmen said the two youths with Tyler, believed to be 17 and 19 years respectively, leaped from the speeding car into the brush beside the road when officers fired the shots. Officers said the pair was believed seen hitch-hiking toward Wooster

Highway Pay Fraud Bared

COLUMBUS — (INS) — State Auditor Joseph T Ferguson levelled charges today at 18 state highway workers he described as "implicated in a false payroll records scheme."

The charges amount to wages the highway workers received from the state in September of 1948 when they allegedly accepted money for work on the streets of Killbuck.

Ferguson said deductions for the overpayments will be made from the employes' checks today. The overpayment described by the auditor total $670 and range individually from $9.96 to $316.15. Only 15 of the workers in the report still are at work in the division.

Turning the report over to the attorney general's office for investigation, Ferguson held former Holmes county Highway Superintendent Howard G. Harrold and timekeeper-clerk William J Anderson responsible for the claims illegally paid.

Congressman Starts Visits

Congressman J. Harry McGregor will be in the common pleas courtroom Wednesday and Thursday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. for talks with Richland county residents.

McGregor began his annual tour of his district today with interviews at the Ashland courthouse. He also will be in Ashland Tuesday.

The congressman explained he wanted to discuss national issues with his constituents and "to be of service to them as their congressman."

Woman Strangles On Steak

Mrs. Newlon Dies At Fairway

Mrs. Mabel Blanche Newlon, 109 West Second street, died during a dinner party Saturday night at the Fairway Inn near Galion after choking on a piece of steak.

Coroner D. C. Lavender said the accidental death was caused by strangulation. Dr. Charles Griebling of Galion, present at the club at the time, pronounced Mrs. Newlon dead shortly before 9:30 p. m.

According to sheriff's deputies, Mrs. Newlon was dining with friends at the bowling tournament dinner when she suddenly began to choke and left the table.

Her escort, Frank Kearns, 125 West Second street, helped her outside, where he succeeded in removing the meat from her throat. Deputies said Mrs Newlon then became limp and that artificial respiration was administered by Dr. Griebling.

The body was removed to the Jones Memorial, where services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Tuesday by Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner, pastor of the First Methodist church. Burial will be in the Caledonia cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Mrs. Newlon was born in Marion county and was a member of the First Methodist church here. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Roma E. Campbell; a brother, J. Harvey Dickson, both of Mansfield, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Reds Handed Major Loss

Germans Follow Right-Wingers

FRANKFURT, Germany — (AP) — Western Germany has handed its right-wind parties a mandate to direct the new federal republic for the crucial next four years.

More than 24,000,000 Germans swarmed to the polls yesterday, in their first free election since Hitler took over in 1933. They handed communism its fourth major defeat in Western Europe since the war. France, Italy and West Berlin said "no" to the Reds in earlier elections.

Western Germany's rebuff marks the retreat of communism to the river Elbe where the Red army stands guard.

West German voters also rejected socialism and extreme right pro-nazi groups, giving control of the 402-member parliament to the free enterprise parties whose policies have the confidence of American officials.

Topping the popular vote with 7,356,025 were the Conservative Christian Democrats Close behind with 6,932,303 were the Social Democrats who want to nationalize big industries. They closely resemble Britain's ruling Labor party.

The Free Democrats, who favor the free enterprise system with no reservations, surged into third place with 2,827,948 votes.

Trailing the field of the major parties were the communists who slumped from ten per cent of the popular vote in 1946 state elections to about six per cent — 1,360,469 votes.

Even Max Reimann, fiery chief of the Communist party in West Germany, was spurned by his home district.

Following her second trip, she fell with a heart attack. Mitchell Thrills Crowd

Akron Youth Wins Soap Box Crown

AKRON—Home-grown Freddie Derks, 15, reigns today as king of boydom's greatest amateur racing event—the Soap Box Derby.

Derks became the third Akron entrant in the last five All-American derbies to win the national championship when he outdistanced 147 other city champions, including Mansfield's Jimmy Mitchell yesterday at Derby Downs. Mitchell, the smiling Crestline 12-year-old, tied for 35th in the big field.

A sweltering crowd of 50,000 cheered Derks across the finish line in a thrilling duel with Don Klepsch, 14, Detroit and Charles P. Muhl jr., 14, Cleveland. Klepsch, a ninth grader who raises pigeons, won a Chevrolet sedan for second place while Muhl took down a movie camera for third.

The bespectacled Derks won a $5,000 four-year college scholarship as his prize in the 12th running of Derby. He plans to study automotive design in college but has not selected his school.

Derks carved his racer from an 80-foot black walnut log and was the most confident boy in the race. It took him 12 months to build his slim black racer but "the Akron district race was tougher than the nationals." His only good luck charm was a pocket-sized copy of the New Testament.

Mitchell provided one of the biggest thrills in the race when he skidded and "threw" three tires after winning his first heat. The little blond eliminated Ken Tyndall, Kinston, North Carolina and Tommy Trettin, Green Bay, Wisconsin easily in the first round. He was knocked out in the next round by Charles Ricks, San Antonio, Texas.

Derby officials placed three new wheels on Mitchell's black "News-Journal Special" before the start of the second race.

Jimmy's biggest thrill during "Derby week" was "winning my first race." I only wish I could have done better," he smiled after being eliminated. "But I really had

Blood Quota Falls Short

Only 49 prospective donors had registered with the Red Cross this morning to give blood during the Bloodmobile's visit to Mansfield today.

However, Red Cross officials said the office received a number of calls this morning from people who expressed interest in the blood program after reading yesterday's story in the News-Journal.

In addition, a number of organizations and firms have signified their intention of cooperating.

Mansfield's quota for the two days the Bloodmobile will be here is 200 pints. However, about 280 prospective donors are needed to allow for those who may not be able to give blood for some reason.

The Bloodmobile will be at the Park Avenue Baptist church today and tomorrow. Hours for giving blood today are noon to 6 p. m. Tomorrow th Bloodmobile will be here from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Burglars Loot Offices

$50 Reported Taken From Home

Mansfield's wave of burglaries continued over the week end with the looting of three physicians' offices and an attempted entry at a fourth, all located at 61 North Mulberry street.

A Springmill street home was burglarized of $20 while an occupant of the house was in the same room.

Reported missing from the office of Dr. D. A. Weir was $100 in cash. Entrance was gained to the office of Dr. E. M. Oswalt, and the desk office ransacked, however, Dr. Oswalt is on vacation and police were unable to determine if anything had been stolen.

While police were investigating, Dr. H. G. Knierim reported his office had been entered, but nothing was missing.

The door to Dr. R. W. Webster's office showed pry marks, but Dr. Webster's secretary, Ellen Eagle, of 68 North Weldon avenue, said the office was in order, and apparently had not been entered.

The burglar was reported at 8:15 a. m. today by Mrs. Ken-

Barkley Jokes About Romance

'Operation Veep' Goes Off On Schedule

PADUCAH, Ky. — (AP) — "Operation Veep" went off on schedule here yesterday — without a hitch, romantic or otherwise.

With upwards of 10,000 persons on hand for the rededication of the Paducah - McCracken county airport as Barkley field, Vice President Alben Barkley made only a jocular reference to his rumored romance with Mrs. Carleton Hadley, St. Louis widow.

While crowning his six-year-old granddaughter, Dorothy Anne Barkley, "Queen of Queens," he solemnly told the crowd:

"I was quoted as saying that I was going to crown a queen of my own some day. I couldn't say then what I had in mind, although there was much speculation."

Then, pausing dramatically while Mrs. Hadley sat intent on the speaker's platform nearby, he continued:

"I am happy to announce that here is the little queen of my own," and smiling broadly, he stopped and placed a crown and a kiss on his granddaughter.

The crowd roared.

Barkley's remark that some day he "might crown a queen of my own" was made when he crowned the Queen of the Culpepper, Va., bicentennial celebration recently.

Speculation on the vice president's friendship with Mrs. Hadley arose after he attended a baseball game with her some time ago in St. Louis.

Mrs. Hadley and her 17-year-old daughter, Anne, were guests of the vice president here over the weekend.

Woman Suffers Heart Attack On Beach

Four Mansfielders were saved from the rough waters of Lake Erie near Huron Sunday afternoon by the quick thinking of Mrs. Elmer Rusk, 260 West Fourth street, and the work of two Mansfield men. Mrs. Rusk suffered a heart attack as the result of her efforts and had to be revived on the beach.

Mrs. Rusk twice ran to Otto's Camp near Huron to summon help for the struggling Mansfielders and collapsed. More than a dozen Mansfield residents watched the rescues.

A Mansfield man saved a boy from the lake a little later in the afternoon, but the youth was not identified.

The Mansfield swimmers who were pulled from the white-capped lake waters were Sam Suleman, proprietor of Suleman's Billiards, 260½ North Main street; Ray Shaban, co-owner with his brother, Neim, of the Rex Billiards, 234 North Main street, and two unidentified women.

The four were swept beyond their depth by the strong undertow. Mrs. Rusk, sitting on the beach, heard their calls for help and tried to get the attention of camp residents.

When she realized that her calls were not being heard, she ran 300 yards to the cottage of Wilson McLean, Mansfield fireman. McLean rescued Suleman and one of the women.

Kenneth Majoy, 496 Grant street, who also was at the lake with a party of friends, jumped into the water and rescued the other couple. Previously Majoy had rescued the unidentified boy when he fell off the innertube on which he was floating.

Mrs. Rusk, thinking that resuscitation would be needed, had run back to Otto's camp and called the state highway patrol.

Meanwhile, McLean had taken Suleman and one of the women back to the camp. When he returned to the beach he found that Mrs. Rusk had collapsed and that an attendant from the Sandusky hospital and a highway patrolman were trying to revive her.

A doctor also had been called but when he failed to show up at the camp, the hospital attendant advised that both Mrs. Rusk and Suleman be taken to the Sandusky hospital.

Mrs. Rusk was released about four hours later and Suleman left the hospital last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Rusk were guests of Mr. and Mrs. McLean at their cottage for the weekend. Today Mrs. Rusk was back at work but "feeling pretty weak," she said.

Suleman and Shaban are remaining at the camp for another week's vacation.

Military's Bloody Coup Hits Syria

Top Officials Executed

DAMASCUS, SYRIA — (AP) — Syria's president and premier were shot yesterday in a lightning military coup whose repercussions thundered through the explosive Middle East.

Col. Sami Hennawi, 51 Syrian hero of the Palestine war, led the group of senior army officers who overthrew the government of Marshall Husni Zayim.

A sharp burst from a firing squad at the great Mazza military barracks ended the rule of the stocky little Zayim who had seized power four and a half months ago.

Zayim's bespectacled premier, Muhsen Bey Berazi, generally considered the brins of the regime, died with him.

Col. Hennawi issued communiques telling of the shootings. They called the dead rulers "traitors" and "tyrants," and ordered the army and police to join forces to maintain calm.

(Dispatches from Syria are subject to censorship).

Col. Hennawai summoned a meeting of about 50 prominent Syrian politicians last night. He told them Zayim was guilty of "conceit and espotism." He said the revolution was forced by the president's reckless spending of government funds and his failure to follow through on promises of reform.

The assembled politicians, including Faris El Khouri, Syria's delegate to the United Nations, called on former President Hasem Bey Attassi to form a new government. He accepted.

In the meantime Col. Hennawai, who proclaimed himself chief of the armed forces, will rule by decree with the aid of a supreme war council.

A Syrian broadcast described the coup thus:

Sunday morning three carloads of Syrian army officers rode to Zayim's home, forced their way in after a brief fight with sentries, and seized him. They then drove to Premier Berazi's house and arrested him.

A military tribunal was immediately formed, the men were convicted of treason, taken to Mazza barracks and shot.

Ohio Limited To Only One Beauty Queen

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Ohio has two beauty queens but only one of them can enter the "Miss America" contest at Atlantic City Sept. 5 to 11.

Irving Weiner, president of the Bi-Rite Super markets, sponsors of recent "Miss Ohio" and "Miss Cleveland" contests, said he received a telegram yesterday which said only one of the girls would be accepted. The telegram was signed by Lenora S. Slaughter, executive director of the Miss America pageant of beauty.

Weiner said he understood both Elizabeth J. Giles of Chagrin Falls (Miss Ohio) and Florence Bondi of Cleveland would be accepted at the contest. Jack Gibson, who was said to have the contest franchise for Ohio, was unavailable for comment. So were the girls.

Nab Public Enemy No. 1

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — A man tabbed by the FBI as "Public enemy no. 1" was held here today in connection with the fatal shooting of one policeman and the wounding of another last night.

Police Chief Carl Heustis identified the man as Earl D. Bircham, 45, and said he was charged with murder and malicious shooting. A woman identified by Heustis as Bircham's wife — Mrs. June Bircham, 26, — was held without charge.

Bircham was captured 15 minutes after the officers were fired upon as they approached an automobile they had chased as a speeder.

Patrolman John H. Tennyson, 32, died shortly after being taken to General hospital. Patrolman John A. Ross, 22, was reported in a critical condition at the hospital today. H was shot twice under the heart.

The policemen were shot in a back yard when they exchanged shots with the gunmen. The gunman was not hurt in the shooting.

Heustis said Mrs. Bircham remained in the car throughout the shooting and was captured by another resident who held her for police. She was listed as wanted by the FBI on a charge of harboring.

Police said Bircham was captured and disarmed by Luthern Williams, 37, in his back yard near the scene of the shooting.

Fred Hallford, special agent in charge of the Louisville office of the FBI, said Bircham is "recognized by the FBI as public enemy no. 1."

"Lightning Joe's" Best Battle Was One He Had Tried To Evade

NEW YORK—Gen. J. Lawton Collins, the new army chief of staff, earned his nickname—"Lightning Joe"—on many battlefields.

The graying, 53-year-old soldier—one of the handsomest men in the army—was one of the most colorful and energetic field commanders of the second World war.

He was tough and cool and won his battles first hand. He ran his famous Seventh corps as efficiently as any top business executive. An all around soldier, he could plan a battle, fight it through—and encourage his own frontline troops with his presence.

This was his battle formula: "Outguess the enemy, keep him off balance and never stop driving."

Some generals are boxers, and some are punchers. "Lightning Joe" is a puncher. It was his faculty of sustained drive that led Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley to give him the critical battle assignments that built his fame.

And few generals in American history can match his combat record. His victories stretch from Guadalcanal to the Elbe. Collins came to Europe after successfully completing the mopup of Japanese on Guadalcanal and New Guinea.

His Seventh corps seized Utah beach in Normandy. It freed Cherbourg, the first French metropolis liberated from the nazis. It broke the crust at St. Lo. It was first to crack the Siegfried line and capture a major German city — Aachen. It took Cologne, too, expanded the first bridgehead across the Rhine at Remagen, and at war's end linked up with the Russians along the Elbe.

But "Lightning Joe," who never dodged a scrap, once got into a fight he wasn't looking for.

It happened in the "Battle of the Bulge" in Belgium, December, 1944. The German breakthrough imperiled the American line of communications, and put his First and Ninth armies under the field leadership of Fied Marshal Montgomery.

Monty immediately named "Ligtning Joe" to head a reserve corps. This corps was to be used as a counterblow at the right time — when the German drive had been contained. But in the meantime it was under strict orders to refrain from attack.

One of the outfits in the reserve corps was the "Hell on Wheels" Second Armored division, led by Maj. Gen. Ernie "Old Gravel Voice" Harmon.

After a spectacular 100 - mile night march, Harmon's tankers reached their assembly area near Celles, Belgium. Then they were started to run into German outposts. Moving more swiftly than expected, the nazis were only a few miles from the Meuse river. If they reached it and took Dinant the American armies would be split in half.

Harmon immediately relayed this information to Collins, who asked:

"What do you want to do, Ernie"

"I want to attack, but we're under orders not to," said Harmon. "And there isn't time to get the orders changed."

"Go ahead, Ernie," said Collins. "I'll take the responsibility."

In a grand grinding battle, fought in snow and fog, Harmon's division annihilated the German armor — and halted the German thrust.

Field Marshal Montgomery, angered at first because he thought his orders had been disregarded, sent a rebuke through channels. But when he learned the full story he sent his compliments to Collins and Harmon.

The battle had turned out to be one of "Lightning Joe's" best blitzes.

Racket Boss Writes Memoirs of Double-Dealing In N. Y. Politics

JIMMY HINES, ex-Tammany taker and fixer, ex-convict, ex-blacksmith, is hammering out his memoirs.

The brawny, white-haired, friendly former boss of upper Manhattan and satellite regions, who thrived off racket protection, was on the payroll of Dutch Schultz and many others, has sat out his probation period, is a free man.

In his reminiscences he will not expose living accessories to the felonies he expiated in the Big House. But he will reveal some inside stuff, mostly as entertainment, without identifying individuals.

Here, roughly reported from verbal information, is one episode:

Hines had his district workers in his huge fist. If he closed it on them they were crushed. His discipline was ruthless. His efficiency was fierce and thorough down to the last ballot.

What with handouts to the cheap and cheesy, jobs for the faithful, "contracts" carried out meticulously wherever he undertook to "spring" a prisoner, land a public or private privilege, immunize the most lawless and reckless enterprise, nominate men for high offices and help elect them—he had control of his bailiwick as complete as ever did "Hinky Dink" or "Bathouse John" in Chicago.

Many of his captains brought in 100 percent returns. One district captain had always been reliable for such a result. Through the years, his territory never registered one Republican.

On the day before election he got his cash allotment—not much probably $50. When he came to collect it the night before, Hines would run him through the roller The captain would report. He had every voter accounted for, there would be exactly so many votes, they would be all Democratic.

But a heavy shadow descended on Jimmy and his lieutenants:

A reform administration had introduced and carried through a new, revolutionary, unorthodox and un-American nuisance —voting machines.

Well, that was tough, but it would be met. Sample gadgets were set up in the club-houses, the faithful were instructed. The gimmick was rather simple, at that. All they had to do, all they were taught and told to do, was to pull the one lever — the straight Democratic ticket.

The champion district captain shrugged it off.

"I'll deliver jus' like I always donw, boss. It'll be Demo, 421; Repub, a goose - egg."

Hines got the count from each polling - place the moment the cops locked up its mechanism.

Jimmy was tickled. His unerring aide had hit it on the button. His forecast was perfect.

But, next morning, a minor heeler came to the great man with a squawk.

He pointed to a purple shiner. "De distric' captain gimme dat," he beefed. "I didn't do nottin'. I go in an' I vote—an' I vote right—an as I come outta de boot' he sticks out his hand an' he mitts me. Den, before I see what's comin', he brings one up f'm de basement an' knocks me out f'm under me hat."

Hines at once summoned the captain. What was the idea of this outrage against an innocent, a regular, follower.

"It was like this," said the captain. "Before each vote, when the booth was empty, I went in and smeared lampblack on the handle of the lever. When the nex' voter come out, I shooken his hand. If mine come back stained black, he was okay. Well, I grab this bird's duke —an' my palm comes up white. Dat's when I socked him."

"Well, it happens," said the indignant minion, "dat I'm left-handed!"

Accidents In Ohio Kill 11 Persons

Mansfield Area Escapes Car Mishaps

While the Mansfield area escaped major traffic accidents over the week end, at least eight persons lost their lives in highway mishaps in the state. Three died in other accidents.

A Cleveland man drowned in Lake Erie and a child was shot fatally while playing cowboys and Indians.

Says Church Lone Beacon

Vesper Audience Told of Horizons

One of the largest crowds of this season attended the union vesper service last night when more than 300 Mansfielders sat under the trees in South park and others listened to the service from their parked cars.

'In the world today the church still is the only beacon of light left on the dark horizon," Rev. Willard Shawk, pastor of the Main Street Evangelical United Brethren church, told the group. "The church is recapturing the vision of redemption."

Speaking on the subject, "Lost Horizons," Rev. Shawk mentioned six visions which the world, with the exception of the church, has lost. He named the lost visions as the visions of spiritual truth, the vision for the needy, the vision of evangelism, the vision of a Christian world, the vision of the Christian attitude toward giving, and the lost horizon of the redemptive power of the gospel both for society and for the individual.

Discussing the lost vision of evangelizing the world, Rev. Shawk said he thought the teaching mission to be conducted here this fall would do much to recapture that vision in Mansfield.

The choir of Rev. Shawk's church, under the direction of Mrs. E. K. Tingley, sang "The Green Cathedral," by Hahn, and "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked." Miss Jean A. Robinson sang a solo, "Blessed Are They Which Do Hunger," by Stephens.

The outdoor services are being held for nine consecutive Sundays under the auspices of the Mansfield Ministerial association with Mansfield ministers alternating in delivering the sermon. Last night's service was the seventh in this summer's series.

Hearing Set In Thefts

Miller To Face Commissioner Today

DeForrest C. Miller, accused of stealing parcel post packages worth $10,000 while employed by the Erie railroad at the Mansfield depot, will be given a preliminary hearing before the U. S. Commissioner at Cleveland late today.

Miller, 44, of Wooster, R. D. 1, was arrested by federal post inspectors Saturday, after a three - month investigation of mail thefts at the depot.

Inspectors said Miller has confessed the thefts which occurred during the past year. The accused man allegedly specialized in the theft of men's suits, women's clothing, shoes, shipments of nylon hose and radios.

Most of the goods taken, inspectors said, were of the "long haul" type, which were being transferred in Mansfield from one railroad to another.

They said the mail thefts were the largest ever reported in the Mansfield area.

The Mansfield chapter was one of many from the northeastern Ohio area to sit in a special section behind home plate. The Galion chapter also was represented.

Following the game the various barber shop quartets had a songfest in a room provided by the Indians ball club.

Intermission between games found the chapters joining to entertain the crowd with a series of favorite barbershop tunes.

Although the chartered bus left 10 minutes later than the scheduled time from the courthouse, three barber shoppers still didn't make it in time for the trip. They were Herman Clingan, George Drumm and Kellie Walter.

The arrangements for the trip were made by Richard Starrett, president, Ralph Hughes, secretary; and John Whitcomb.

8 Trophies Awarded At Race

Fliers Cover 180 Miles

Some 1,000 aviation enthusiasts braved a blazing sun yesterday to attend the air regatta at Mansfield airport.

Featured were an 180-mile efficiency race, an exhibition of precision flying by Mansfield's 164th Fighter squadron, Air National Guard, a display of four war-tested aircraft, and a demonstration of how not to fly.

The air regatta, staged by the newly-organized Mansfield Private Pilot's association, was free.

Eight trophies were awarded to winners of the various classes competing in the efficiency race.

The route was from Mansfield to Wooster, Lodi, Mansfield, Marion and back to Mansfield by way of Perrysville. The 30 planes made the trip with no mishaps.

Fuel consumption as well as speed was considered when the winners were selected.

A score of 100 points was possible in the eight efficiency races. Fifty points were awarded for fuel consumption and 50 points for time elapsed on the 180-mile course.

Results and scores of the various races follow:

Aeronca Class: Won by Marjorie Newcomer, Ashland, 100 points; Second, Dorothy J. Anderson, Bluffton, 86.3 points.

Beechcraft Class: Won by Kenneth Heisler, Willard Airport, 99 points; H. E. Rupp, Mansfield, 96.8 points.

Cessna Class: Won by R. E. Schreder, Toledo, 100 points; second, R. Bateman, Marion, 94.5 points.

Luscombe Class: Won by Charles Bookwalter, Mansfield, 98.3 points; second, Helen Venskus, Ashland, 97 points.

Swift Class: Won by Elmer Cash, Mansfield, 96.8 points; second, Paul Root, Plymouth, O., 94.8 points.

Navion Class: Won by Dr. M. D. Harnly, Mansfield, 100 points, second, A. Clayton Tschantz, Mansfield, 97.1 points.

Ercoupe Class: Won by Jack Swighart, Butler, O.; 100 points.

BT-13 Class: Won by Kenneth Hendrickson, Medina, 97.6.

A special race was arranged for the pilots of a Stinson, Culver, and Piper Cub, because there were not enough entrants in their classes to run a class race. The three pilots estimated the amount of fuel consumption and the time it would take for the trip before they took off.

Dowt Stover, piloting the Piper Cub, came the closest in estimating the fuel consumption and time elapse to win the special event.

Twelve members of the 164th put on a dazzling display of precision flying in their F51-H "Mustangs."

They did rolls, loops and buzzed the field at about 30 feet in perfect formation.

War planes displayed for inspection were the C-47, the Army's workhorse transport; the AT-6, advance trainer; the P51-H and the B-26, medium bomber.

For contrast a 21-year-old Stinson "Reliance" took to the air, but it operated as smoothly as the newer aircraft. It was piloted by Chief Barstow, head of the Painesville, O., police department. The plane resembled the Spirit of St. Louis in which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made his Atlantic crossing in 1927.

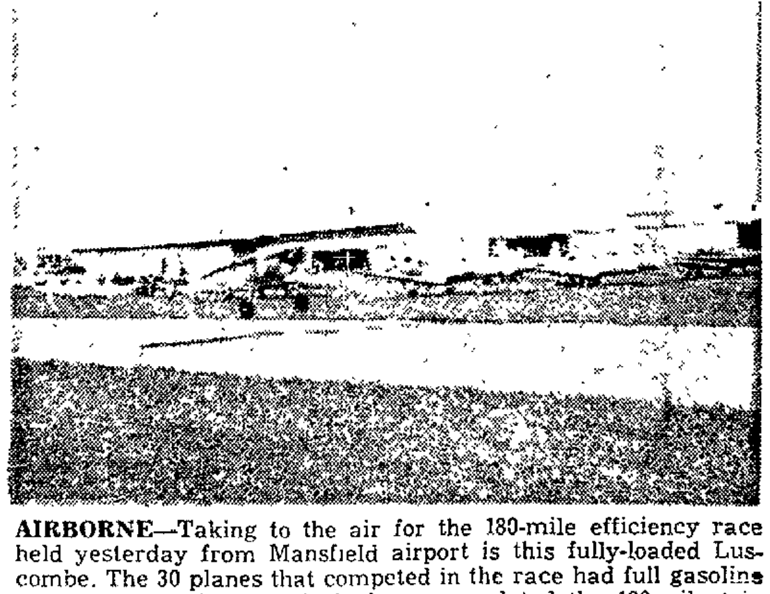
An exhibition of how not to fly an airplane closed the air regatta.

Flying a standard Aeronca, Dick Clouse, of Chardon, O., made his take-off and landing on one wheel, with one wing tip only a few inches off the ground.

He flew the tiny yellow plane sideways, and went into dives from an altitude of only about 50 feet. The topper was when he cut the engine at about 1,000 feet, and with no power, made a one-wheel landing, and parked the plane at the exact spot where it had been.

Park Group Meets

The regular meeting of the North Lake park association will be held at the park pavilion at 8 p m. today Frank Gillingham, president of the association, urged all Mansfielders living in the park area who are interested in the group's activities to attend this meeting.



AIRBORNE—Taking to the air for the 180-mile efficiency race held yesterday from Mansfield airport is this fully-loaded Luscombe. The 30 planes that competed in the race had full gasoline and passenger loads. All 30 planes completed the 180-mile trip with no mishaps. On the flight line are other planes waiting their turn to take off.

Tribe Takes 2 Contests From Sox

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Bob Feller—riding on a hot streak—will seek his 12th victory and sixth in a row as the Cleveland Indians meet the Detroit Tigers tonight in the first of a two-game series.

Prince Hal Newhouser, also after his 12th win, will hurl for the Bengals.

It was Feller's eighth straight win about this time last year that pulled the Indians up by the bootstraps. If the big veteran can enjoy a similar streak, the Indians should snap out of the doldrums that have them five games off the pace of the New York Yankees.

A double win, 4-3 and 5-0, over the Chicago White Sox yesterday while the Yanks split with Philadelphia brought a ray of hope to the Indians camp.

Bob Lemon's six-hit pitching in the opener stumped the Sox except for the fourth inning when they scored all their runs to take a 3-2 lead.

The big blow was a pinch single by big Gus Zernial with the bases clogged which scored two runs. Another single by Dave Philley scored the other marker.

DOBY HITS HOMER

A triple by Dale Mitchell and Larry Doby's 17th home run had given the Tribe a 2-0 lead in the third. They scored what proved to be the tying and winning runs in the fifth when Mitchell and Doby walked after two were out and scored on singles by Mickey Vernon and Manager Lou Boudreau.

The rest of the game passed without event save for the ninth when the Sox had a runner on third with two out.

Former Clevelander George Metkovich became the base runner when he walked in a pinch hitting role with one out.

Herb Adams then lined to Doby and the center fielder threw the ball into the Cleveland dugout when he tried to double Metkovich off first. Metkovich went to third.

Lemon, who had retired 15 out of 16 hitters before passing Metkovich, then got Philley on a fly to Doby.

Howard Judson, one of baseball's real hard luck guys, was charged with his 13th loss in the contest. He has won only one.

The second game was one-sided in only one department—the score.

Each team got only five hits, but the Tribe put four of theirs together in the fourth inning for four runs. Victim of the up-rising was young Billy Pierce.

KENNEDY CONNECTS

With one out, Doby walked and moved to second when Vernon beat out a hit to First Baseman Charley Kress. Boudreau then singled to center to score Doby and send Vernon to second. Joe Gordon was tossed out by Pierce but Johnn Berardino scored both Vernon and Boudreau with another single to center. The scoring was completed and Pierce was finished when Bob Kennedy whacked in the last run with a double to left.

Holding the Sox in complete check for the route was Mike (the Bear) Garcia, who chalked up his tenth win against only four losses.

Boudreau, with two important singles, drove in two runs for the day. Doby knocked across three. A crowd of 46,212 saw the games.

Boudreau also supplied the fielding gem of the day when he back-handed Floyd Baker's sizzler in the ninth of the opener and threw him out. Old Folks Luke Appling drew cheers with a similar stop and threw out Kennedy in the third round of the nightcap.

Penn Auto Outfit Plays Long Time For No Runs

Penn Auto-Sporting Goods and Leesville played to a 15 and a half inning scoreless tie yesterday at Leesville that ended in a rhubarb over whether a Penn Auto base-runner who "scored" the only run of the game touched third base.

With two men down in the 16th Wilbur Wade, Penn Auto third baseman, cracked a long drive to right-center field and circled the bases when the relay got by the Leesville catcher. Leesville protested that the hit was a ground rle double, but after a long argument Leesville lost its protest.

At this point the third base umpire called Wade out for failing to touch third base. This touched off another discussion, which was ended by the game being called—possibly because the umpires were out of breath.

ALLOWS 12 HITS

Big Jack Hammett gave up 12 hits in holding Leesville scoreless for 15 innings. Ed Dudley limited Penn Auto to seven hits in 16 innings of play in hurling the protested shutout. Dudley struck out 10 men and Hammett, former Ohio State pitcher, fanned 11 Leesville hitters.

The game will be replayed Sept. 11 at Leesville. Penn Auto plays at Ontario at 5:30 p. m. Wednesday. Penn had won six straight.

Two Golf Aces Play For Title In 'Tam' Meet

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Tam O'Shanter golf roulette got an extra twirl today, sending Johnny Palmer and Jimmy Demaret, a pair of high-powered money players, into a $17,000 championship playoff.

Seventy - two holes weren't enough to determine a winner of promoter George S. May's fabulous $35,000 'world" tourney yesterday. Palmer and Demaret charged in among the par-wreckers with 272's — 13 strokes under the Tam regulation.

Today's 18 hole showdown will pay the winner $10,000. Second place is worth $7,000.

GETS TO SCORE

Yesterday Palmer grooved a pair of 35's for a respectable 70, two under par.

Demaret, two hours earlier, had carved 33-34—67 for his 275.

Cary Middlecoff, with 68, and Toney Penna, with 70, went for 278. Bob Hamilton's 71 put him in at 279. Buck White, the 54-hole leader with 205, ballooned to a closing 75. Johnny Bulla, Jim Turnesa, and Jim Ferrier trudged in at 282.

Sam Snead, out in 35, needed a 33 coming in to win with 274. But the best he could do was 36 for a 71 and 277. However, he collected third prize of $5,000.

Bill Campbell, with a 290 total, retained his men's amateur title. Grace Lenczyk won women's amateur with 313, and Babe Zaharias successfully defended her women's pro title with 301.

Joe Walcott Puts Tandberg Away In Fifth

STOCKHOLM — (AP) — Ancient Jersey Joe Walcott, grinning from ear to ear, stretched out in his hotel room today and told the world to bring on its leading heavyweights—he'd fight 'em all.

While his manager Felix Boccicchio nodded in agreement Jersey Joe, loser twice to Joe Louis in heavyweight title fights, said he planned to take a European exhibition tour to include Holland, England, Belgium, France and possibly Spain.

He figures he is among the top contenders for Ezzard Charles' NBA version of the heavyweight crown, following his slick performance in knocking out Sweden's Olle Tanberg in the fifth stanza of their scheduled 12-round bout last night.

"I want another crack at Charles," said the veteran warrior from Camden, N. J., who was outpointed by Ez earlier in the summer. "I feel certain I will beat him the next time."

Bocchicchio, the bustling little manager, thought so, too.

Boston Sox Creep Up On Yanks

By JOE RICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

A penny for Casey Stengel's thoughts today as once again the manager of the New York Yankees feels the hot breath of the oncoming Boston Red Sox on the back of his neck.

Wasn't it just seven weeks ago Stengel wrote off the Red Sox?

"This is it," he exclaimed jubilantly on July 4 after the Yankees had whipped the Bosox for the fifth straight time. "The Red Sox won't bother us any more. We knocked them right out of the race. They'll never recover."

CASEY WRONG?

And who would say that Casey was wrong? Those were dark days for Ted Williams and company. They had suffered eight defeats in a row. They were wallowing in fifth place. The Yankeees were 12 full games away, and it appeared only a miracle could pull them back. Why, the Red Sox would be lucky to finish in the first division.

Today, exactly seven weeks later, the Red Sox, in an amazing about face, have made up two-thirds of the ground on the Yankees. Now in second place, they've picked up eight games and trail by only four. Oddly enough, there are exactly seven weeks left in the playing schedule. It doesn't take a certified public accountant to figure out the pennant winner, should the Sox repeat their last seven weeks' work.

The Sox, piling up 24 hits and 18 bases on balls, overpowered the Washington Senators twice yesterday, 9-3 and 13-4, to pick up another game on the Yankees. Stengel's crew whipped Philadelphia, 4-2, but the Athletics came back to win the second game of the doubleheader, 4-3.

The twin triumph gave the Red Sox a record of 32 victories in 41 games since that fateful July 4. They've now won 18 of 22 in their latest home stand. Five in a row have come at the expense of the Senators, whom they meet 10 more times. In one, they hold an 8-3 lead after six innings. The game will be completed later this week. Boston also has seven games left with the Yankees.

The Brooklyn Dodgers regained the lead from St. Louis in the tight National league race, winning from Boston, 7-2, while Pittsburgh was trouncing the Cardinals, 4-0. This turn of events put the Brooks one game in front of the Redbirds.

The third place New York Giants remained 12 full games off the pace despite their two victories over the Philadelphia Phils, 8-1 and 1-0. The Cincinnati Reds came out on top in the battle of the cellarites, winning two from the last place Chicago Cubs, 4-2 and 8-0.

Lefty Mel Parnell turned in his 18th triumph for the Boston Red Sox with a seven-hitter in the opener against Washington. Dom DiMaggio sparked the Red Sox attack with a home run and two singles.

Junior Stephens hit his 31st home run in the second game with two mates on base to help Jack Kramer beat the Senators' Paul Calvert.

Alex Kellner scored his fourth victory over the Yankees and his 15th of the season as the Athletics beat the league leaders for a split of the doubleheader. Bob Porterfield, aided by Joe Page, was credited with winning the opener for the Yankees.

The third place Cleveland Indians advanced to within five games of the top by winning both ends of a doubleheader from Chicago White Sox, 4-3 and 5-0.

The fourth place Detroit Tigers moved to within eight and a half games off the pace, downing the St. Louis Browns twice, 6-2 and 4-3. Fred Hutchinson coasted to his 11th victory and his sixth straight with a six-hitter in the opener. George Kell paced the Tigers with a double and triple to drive in three runs.

4 Mansfield Teams Battle In District Softball Meet

The district softball tournament will resume play at Gorman-Rupp field tonight with four Mansfield teams battling for the two finals berths.

Defending champion Gorman-Rupp is the odds-on favorite to reclaim its crown. The other three Mansfield nines, however, all got into the semi-finals, by pulling upsets and need only to spill two more to be champs.

Veterans of Foreign Wars get the first chance at Gorman-Rupp as the two team's meet in tonight's opening game at 8 p. m. Two of the tournament's finest pitchers, Bob Regula of the Pumpers, and Ronnie Hunt of the Vets will do the mound work. Hunt has struck out 34 men in three previous games in the tournament.

The second game will pair Farm Tools, a 1-0 victor over Westinghouse Saturday night, with Sons of Herman. Jack Walters and Dick Kanz will do the pitching in this one with the teams rated practically even.

Finals will be played Wednesday night between tonight's two winners.

Three League Games Today

Three games will be played in the Recreation softball league tonight, as every club but the Old Timers and Western and Southern Insurance will see action.

Westinghouse Clerks, the team with the best chance to catch the league-leading Old Timers, will meet the Coffee Shop at Johns park. Westinghouse has a 1-1 record while the leaders have 5-0.

Other games tonight will pair the News-Journal (2-3) with Sigma Chi (3-2) at Prospect park, and Martin Steel (1-3) with Leedy Electric (2-2) in Liberty

Begin Work On West End Of Pipeline

Transarabian Firm Gets Supplies

BEIRUT, Lebanon — (AP) —Major American oil interests in the Middle East have started work on the western end of their giant Persian Gulf-to - Mediterranean pipeline.

More than 250 miles of the 1 067-mile long line has been laid by Transarabian Pipeline company (Tapline) at the eastern end in Saudi Arabia

Operations at the western terminus began after a long delay until transit rights could be obtained from the Syrian government.

The first shipload of supplies for the western operations arrived in Beirut Wednesday on the S S Anniston City This ship brought about 4 000 tons of construction equipment and materials This included trucks tractors and cranes to handle the 31 foot long steel sections which made up the line

This material will be moved to a construction camp and terminal to be built at nearby Sidon — the western end of the line and the eventual site of a huge refinery and tank farm according to the plans

Several hundred American technicans are expected to arrive in August to get the Sidon camp built so that all will be ready when the first pipe starts coming into Beirut in September

The pipe is coming by ship from the west coast of the United States Making the pipe is a tremendous operation, involving 323 000 tons of steel for it and the six pumping stations to be put up along the line

The first shipload of pipe is due into Beirut Sept 4 Another shipload is scheduled to arrive Sept. 26 and a third on Oct 8 Thereafter plans call for two ships loaded with pipe per month

It is understood Tapline plans to use the railroad running through the mountains between Beirut and Damascus to carry the pipe if satisfactory freight charge arrangements can be agreed on Trucks will be utilized to haul the pipe along the rest of the line

Actual constructions of the line will be under supervision of the Williams Brothers Overseas Construction corporation Their American specialists and technicians will train the large numbers of local laborers for the work Although no figure has been made public on the expected total number of local employes it is expected to be about the same as the 2 500 now working on the eastern end

The target date for completion of the $200 000,000 project is around January of 1951 — eighteen months in the future Then, it is hoped, the eastern and western sections will be joined somewhere in western Saudi Arabia When completed the line, with its six pumping stations, will have a capacity of 300,000 barrels daily This may be increased to 500 000 with the addition of six more pumping stations in the future

CORMS SHOULD BE REPOTTED IN AUGUST
SEEDLING TRANSPLANTED FROM FLAT TO POT
8-15

Times To Start Cyclamens

By DEAN HALLIDAY
Central Press Association

Cyclamens are such showy pot plants that one hesitates to discard them when they have finished blooming As a matter of fact, save the old corms and you can have new plants which will bear a profusion of flowers

Plants that have bloomed during the late winter should be allowed to die down in order to give the corms a much needed summer rest The corms then will be ready to be repotted in August

The accompanying Garden-Graph shows the correct position of a repotted corm, with its upper surface one-half inch above soil level Pot the corm in new soil to which has been added a teaspoonful of plant food When changing corms from old pots to new, try not to loosen all the soil about the roots Instead, keep a ball of earth about them if possible

After transplanting an old corm, sink the pot into the soil in a shady part of the garden and leave it there until September It must be brought indoors, however, before even the first light frost Remember to water it every day.

Cyclamens growing indoors prefer a north or eastern exposure They do best in temperatures ranging from 50 to 60 degrees This may be difficult to maintain in the average home, but keep them as cool as possible They should be watered once or twice a day with tepid water

Cyclamen seeds can be sown in September in a flat containing a mixture of half peat and half garden soil Space the seeds about one inch apart When the seedlings show several leaves, as illustrated, transplant into 2-inch pots Repot once or twice during the winter months, each time into a larger pot, setting the corms half in and half out of the soil Cyclamens grow best when slightly pot bound

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Inspectors Swarm Over Jungle Inn as Aftermath of Raid

2nd Swank Gambling Spot Closed

Rutkowski Lauds Cleveland Woman

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS —INS— Governor Lausche today suspended from office Mayor Charles E. Sedore of Halls Corners for "tolerating the existence of the Jungle Inn."

★

WARREN — AP — State fire and building inspectors were to converge on the Jungle Inn gambling club today as Gov. Frank J. Lausche presses his program to remove commercial gambling from the Ohio scene.

The governor said last night in Akron:

"I am going to order representatives of the industrial relations department into the building to check the entire place to see if it conforms to the code.

"I am also going to order the state fire marshal to check the building for fire hazards."

These are the same tactics that forced closure of the ritzy Mounds club in Lake county recently.

Chief Liquor Enforcement Officer Anthony A. Rutkowski will confer today with prosecutor William McLain of Trumbull county on possible criminal charges against owners and operators of the inn and the property on which it is located.

The action is a follow up of the all night raid Friday which disrupted the activities of the Jungle Inn and about 1,000 patrons. Twenty of the inn's managers and dealers were arrested in the surprise raid.

Rutkowski said the owner of the land was the wife of an official of nearby Halls Corners where the inn is located. He said she also was a village official and that her father-in-law is a parking attendant at the nightspot.

Rutkowski asked that recognition be given the "gallantry and courage" of the men who accompanied him on the Jungle Inn raid.

He also praised Mrs. Charles Marts, wife of the inspector in charge of the Cleveland district for the liquor department. Mrs. Marts accompanied her husband into the gambling spot in advance of the main body of raiders.

Mrs. Marts aided in identifying the numerous dealers and other employes of the inn when the raiders arrived, he said.

Broken Glass Still Mystery

Report of a missile, believed to have been a bullet, which struck a car windshield on Springmill street shortly after noon Sunday, remained a mystery on sheriff's office files today.

Carl Whitehorse, Washington, D. C., told deputies he was approaching Fairfax avenue on Springmill street when something, which he thought was a bullet, shattered his windshield and glanced upward.

Deputies, who investigated, said they were unable to find a bullet and that none of the neighbors in the vicinity had heard a shot.

Letter Offering Elephants To U. S. on Display In Bank

A reproduction of a letter from the king of Siam to President Abraham Lincoln will be on display in the lobby of the Richland Trust company for two weeks, beginning today. The letter is one of a series of reproductions of original documents shown on the Freedom Train which are now being displayed by the Mansfield bank.

When the king of Siam, Somdetch Phra Paramender Maha Mongkut, received a package of 192 volumes of United States government publications as a gift from this country, he tried to think of a way in which to express his appreciation.

Learning the elephant was considered a most remarkable animal in America, he wrote to President Lincoln offering to send as many pairs of elephants as would be necessary to start their propagation in this country.

Although Lincoln was occupied with the pressing affairs of the Civil War when he received the letter, he took time to write a courteous reply. His reply expressed appreciation for the generous offer, but refused it with the explanation that this country's climate did not favor multiplication of the elephant.

The king of Siam's letter, loaned by the national archives, is written in Siamese on beautifully embossed stationery, accompanied by the properly magnificent royal seals.

Smart's Band Completes 17th Season of Concerts

With their closing number, Fred Waring's arrangement of "Sleep," Eugene Smart's studio accordion band and concert completed their 17th season of summer band concerts at North Lake park last night.

Hundred of Mansfielders gathered at the bandstand at the water's edge, and streets near the park were lined with the parked cars of others listening to the final concert.

One of the highlights of the special program, arranged by Eugene Smart, director of the band, was a group of old-time minstrel songs sung by eight-year-old Buddy Houston. He was called back for three encores.

When Mona Hammett was taken ill shortly before the concert, Charlotte Boyd and Ro Anne Farry, two remaining members of the Song Spinners' trio, carried on with the three numbers arranged for the trio.

The audience gave generous applause to Marylyn McCready, majorette from Butler high school, whose baton twirling act was a feature of the program.

Shortly before the close of the program all the vocalists appeared on the stage and led the audience in singing, "God Bless America."

Last night's vocalists included Erlinda Leverett, Barbara McCullough, Sandra Byerly, Arlene Christman and Mary Louise and Barbara Jones. Sandra Simpson, of Ashland, was the accordion soloist.

Leader of Communist Troops Dies

Chinese Report Death of Mao

CANTON — (INS) — A nationalist military spokesman reported today that Chinese communist leader Mao Tse - Tung died of tuberculosis in Peiping on July 17.

There have been numerous reports that Mao, dynamic leader held chiefly responsible for communist victories in northern China, has been seriously ill.

These previous reports emphasized the fact that Mao had made no public appearances despite the successes of his armies, which in rapid succession overran Tientsin, Peiping and Nanking and then launched a drive southward toward Canton.

Mao, who founded the Chinese communist party in 1921 after education and indoctrination in Moscow, was born in 1893.

Only last month he formally and publicly allied Chinese and Soviet communism.

He was married three times and had one son and one daughter.

Mao's communist party activities date back to 1921. His military leadership of China's communists began six years later when he organized a military rebellion in Hunan province.

This successful undertaking led to formation of China's communist army, which played an important role against the Japanese and later was enlarged into the present force that has conquered large areas of China.

Mao taught both communist political philosophies and military strategy at the Marx-Lenin institute in Yenan. He bore the joint titles of marshal of the Red army and chairman of the Chinese communist party.

Ex-Husband Draws Fine

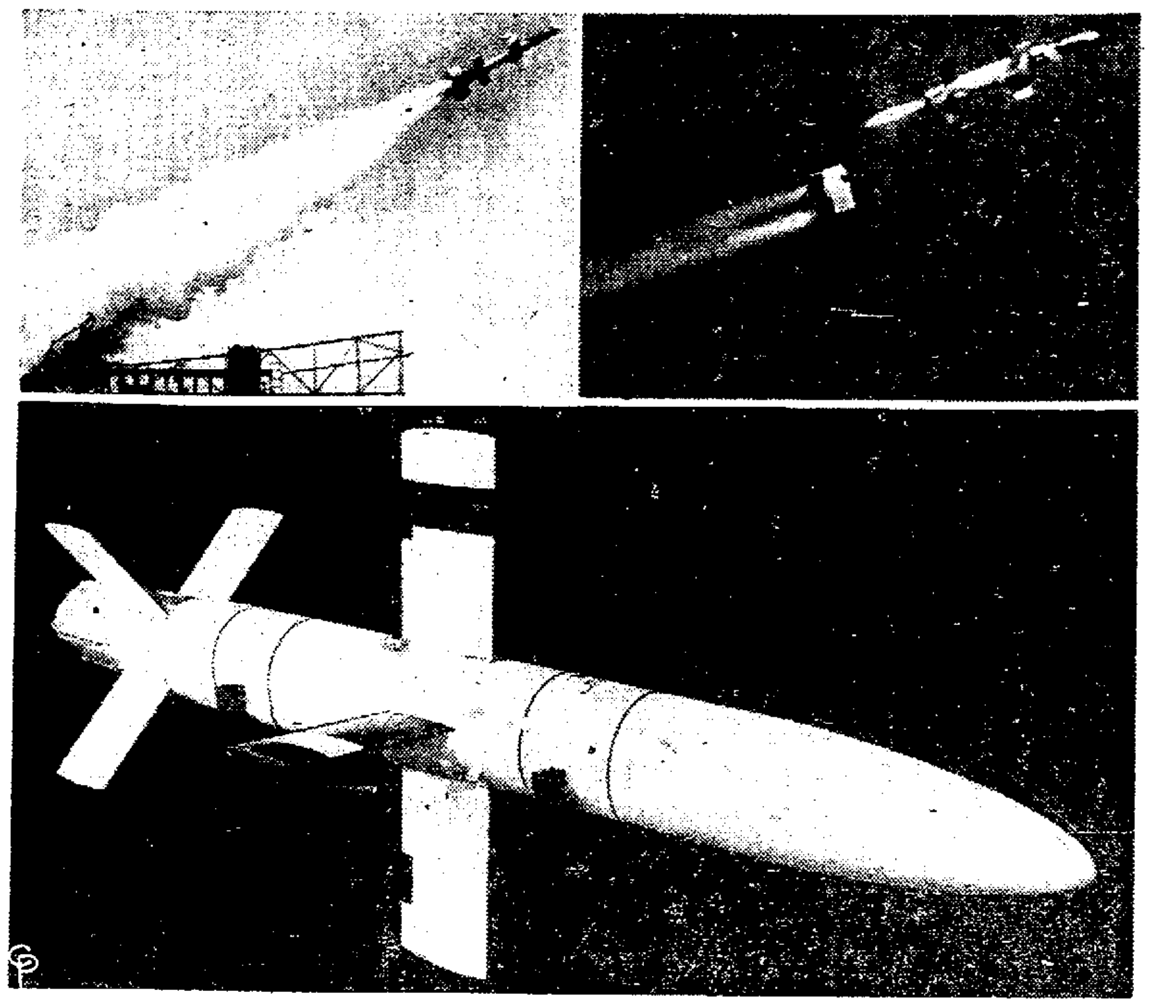
Charles Nethercut, 41, of 577 Bowman street, was fined $50 and costs on a charge of drunk and disorderly conduct when he appeared in municipal court today.

Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler suspended $40 of the fine on condition Nethercut does not molest his former wife. He was arrested at her home Saturday night after he reportedly threw some of her clothing from the house into the front yard.

Nethercut is being held for contempt of a common pleas court order prohibiting him from seeing or molesting his former wife. The couple was divorced last week.

Russell Burke, 28, of 529 Lily street, pleaded innocent to a charge of assault and battery filed by his wife, Edna. The case was continued to Tuesday by Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler. Burke is being held under $500 bond.

Estille Kiser, of 120 Longview avenue, was fined $5 and costs when he admitted driving a car without a drivers' license.



LARK TAKES WING—Built for the navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, the new shipboard-launched guided missile. Lark, successfully passes flight tests at San Diego, Calif. Officially designated the XSAM-N-4, the weapon, designed to intercept and destroy enemy aircraft before ship or target can be attacked, leaves a ship deck (top, left), powered by a high thrust, liquid fuel rocket motor. Price Cuts Unlikely Despite Growing Field Stock

Backlog of New Car Orders Remains

DETROIT — AP — The auto industry will have a sizable field stock by this year's end, but it isn't worried.

A normal field stock means that just about any make of car may be had off the dealer's floor. That may happen before the end of 1949 but leading car makers say it will be only a temporary condition.

Counting upon the huge backlog of replacement demand, they say field stocks will be wiped out again early in the spring.

Of course, a tapering off in demand is coming to the car industry. When it comes a drop in production will not be far behind. Many industry experts say these things could happen any time after Sept. 1.

Earlier this year few persons close to the auto industry believed retail sales would hold up beyond mid - July. They even predicted substantial price cuts would be made at that time to stimulate demand.

At present, however, the industry's new car business is very good. Price cuts aren't needed to boost demand. And the industry isn't likely to make any substantial cuts until it knows what commitments it must make to labor.

Most industry sources are predicting that because of sales and production curtailment, more new model work will get under way after Sept. 1. Several more new models already are being prepared for early introduction.

Appearance of new models would ease any sales drop. New models always stimulate demand. And the stimulus will be greater if lower price tags are put on the new cars.

Optional automatic transmissions to be announced for several forth - coming new models will add to the manufacturers' production costs. Many of the cars to be fitted with the new transmissions will need increased engine power output.

Chevrolet is understood to have attained considerable volume in production of its new torque converter transmission to be announced for 1950 models. Rumor has it, too, that Ford again is negotiating with Borg-Warner for a transmission device for the Ford models.

Despite complaints of high prices, car buyers still want automatic transmissions and other extras that add to delivered costs. Most sales chiefs say there has been no let up in the demand for added accessories.

There has been a lot of speculation in industry quarters about the probable price of the new transmissions for Chevrolet, Ford and other makes in the low price field. There hasn't been event a hint from the car makers.

The effort, of course, has been to keep the price down to the lowest possible level. A figure of from $125 to $140 has been heard in trade circle gossip, but it is wholly unofficial.

If the industry has succeeded in developing an automatic or gearless transmission to sell in that price area it has achieved something heretofore considered impossible. Some leading sales executives have admitted, however, that unless the price could be brought down sharply there wouldn't be much demand for the automatic transmission in the low price car field.

Library Shows New Books For Children

Little Davy Hunts Pet In Everglades

Among the new books for children at the Mansfield Public library are two by the same author, Eleanor Frances Lattimore. One of these is "Davy of the Everglades." Davy lived in Florida in that area of swamps, alligators and Indians, known as the Everglades. He wore hip boots when he went for a walk so the rattlesnakes wouldn't bite him.

Davey wanted a pet more than anything else, and the Everglades isn't a good place to find pets. However, before the book ends, Davy finds a perfect pet, one his mother will let him keep, and one that he can love.

The other book is THREE LITTLE CHINESE GIRLS. They were named Jade, Pearl and Jasmine. Although they live in a different country, wear clothes unlike ours and do many things we don't know much about, they are just as friendly, just as likeable as Davy. Tiger Boy lived next door, and used to climb over the wall to peek at them.

REX AND LOBO are two dogs who are the best of friends. John Vassos took a lot of pictures of the two dogs one day when they went on a hunting (sort of) trip into the woods. Then he told a story about the pictures so that you can watch the pitcures, read the story, and go with them on the trip.

Another trip older boys and girls will enjoy taking comes in the new book by Elizabeth Hamilton, GO WEST, YOUNG BEAR. This is a completely nonsensical tale of a family of bears who indulge in almost human acts. Charles is the hero. He liked people, when they would stand still long enough to get acquainted. Unfortunately, too many people ran away when they saw him coming.

IN THE DAYS OF THE HAN, by Moritz Jagendorf, is a tale of warriors in very ancient China. It is a tale of danger and fighting, of battles and suspense, of friendship and beauty.

CHIEF BLACK HAWK, by Frank Beal, is a tale that is closer to home, but a tale built on the same factors that make "In the Days of the Han" a good book. Chief Black Hawk was a real Indian, who fought hard and bravely to save his land for his people, even though it meant war with the white man to do it. At last he was beaten, but even in defeat his courage and his dignity impressed his captors. Even the President of the United States honored him for his conduct.

Joseph Lippincott's new book, WOLF KING, is a story of a great wolf—a wolf cub whose life was saved by a miracle: a wolf that grew until he was larger than any other wolf in the area; a wolf who terrorized a whole forest; who evaded man for years, though the price on his head mounted. He was a great wolf — and you'll be glad that he is alive at the end of the book.

neth Greer, of 495 Parkview avenue. She is Dr. Weir's secretary. She said she locked the front door of the building, as well as the doctor's office at 12:30 p. m. Saturday.

However, Dr. Knierim said he was in his office at 11 p. m. Sunday and everything was in order at that time.

Entrance to the front door of the building, and to the individual offices was made by prying back the locks, police said.

Mrs. Katheryn Lanzendorfer, 466 Springmill street, called police at 5:09 a. m. Sunday to report that a man was going through her purse in her bedroom when she suddenly awoke about 5 a. m.

Mrs. Lanzendorfer said the man ran from the house with her billfold when he noticed she was awake. The billfold contained $20. She described the burglar as a "small man, wearing a brown slouch hat and khaki shirt."

Police said entrance to the home was made by removing a screen from a rear window.

About three hours earlier, Miss Ruth Jordon, 518 North Franklin avenue, reported to police that a man came up on her front porch and attempted to open the door. She said she called out to him and the man ran.

Researchers Find Spray Avoids Effect of Drugs

New Hope For Hay Fever Sufferers

NEW YORK — (AP) — A way to get relief from hay fever without bad effects from an anti-allergy drug is reported in the Journal of Allergy.

The method is to use a little of the drug in a spray or as nose drops, said Drs. Emanuel Schwartz and Harry Leibowitz of the Long Island College hospital.

They worked with one of the anti - allergy drugs, pyribenzamine. There are many of these drugs, and they often relieve the sneezing and other discomforts of hay fever when they are taken as pills. But they make some people drowsy, dizzy, nauseated, or cause other side effects when taken that way.

A one - half per cent solution of pyribenzamine in a spray or nose drops brought relief to 79 per cent of people tested without causing any side effects, the physicians said.

The relief came immediately, lasting half an hour to four hours, they said. It relieved the sneezing, watery discharge and itching of the nose more than the blocked, stuffy feeling. It helped seasonal victims more than people who suffer all year round from this kind of inflammation.

In tests on 100 persons, 38 per cent complained of temporary burning sensation in the nose and throat when they used the nose drops. In most of these, the sensation was less or disappeared when they used the spray.

Many allergies are believed to be caused by a substance, histamine, released by body cells. The anti - histaminic drugs work by combatting histamine.

Pryibenzamine also appears to have a slight anesthetic effect on the nasal membranes when applied directly, the physicians said. Its main effect in bringing relief in these tests was believed to be due mainly to its action against histamine.

None of the anti - allergy drugs have more than temporary effect. Dr. Schwartz recommended that hay fever victims get desensitizing shots so they can resist the pollen attack better, and use the drugs as pills or spray or both.

Mary and Don Smith decide what Mansfield merchants will sell in the stores

Some people think that retailers buy the merchandise they like and then sell it to customers like Don and Mary Smith. Actually, here in Mansfield, the merchants buy what the Smiths like. In reality, the Mansfield merchant is the purchasing agent for the Smiths. And like any good purchasing agent, he bargains on their behalf when he goes out to buy.

One important question you may be asking: "Why is the Mansfield retailer my best purchasing agent?"

The answer: The Mansfield merchant is closer to you than any other retailer. Next to you, he knows your desires and needs best. Many of the Mansfield buyers are also salespeople; they know what you look for and ask for. For example, more than one Mansfield purchasing agent has had the Smiths in mind when he bought his merchandise.

Vaughan Tells About 'Gifts'

APPARENTLY Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, has no scruples against accepting valuable gifts and passing some of them along to friends, according to the statement he issued Saturday afternoon explaining how he came into possession of home-freezer units, of which he retained one and used the others as "gifts" to high-up officials.

The whole thing links up with that Senate investigation of alleged "five percenters," those contact men who claim to have influence in directing government contracts to business concerns willing to pay them a commission of 5 per cent—or more.

The name of Gen. Vaughan has been associated closely with that of John Maragon, Washington promoter who is accused of being among the top-notch 5 percenters, and who was in the employ of a Chicago perfume firm that is said to have paid for the freezer units given to Vaughan.

Insofar as present revelations are concerned, it appears there was nothing illegal about the "courtesy" of giving several thousand dollars worth of scarce freezing units to a high public official, or in his bestowal of these gifts on favored friends.

But the ethics of such procedure may be seriously questioned, and it also tends to arouse suspicion of the use of "influence," as has been charged in awarding of government contracts and in operation of public business in general.

Bribery appears in many guises, not merely in money payments, and acceptance of expensive gifts by public officials in position to grant or influence favors is one of the methods recognized as imposing an obligation to reciprocate.

It seems noteworthy that none of the persons mentioned as having been given a freezer by Gen. Vaughan was financially unable to buy such a convenience, and that they were unasked for by recipients.

Similarity is seen with a verse in the biblical Parable of the Talents, as found in Matthew, 25:29—"For unto everyone that hath shall be given, and he shall have abundance: but from him that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath."

Which seems to fit in rather neatly at a time when hard-pressed taxpayers are being drained of money needed for comfortable maintenance of themselves and their families to meet extravagant expenditures of the federal government—and, indirectly at least, paying for whatever "gifts" may be deemed advisable in dealings with "friends."

Belated Prayer of Drunken Driver

PROMINENCE of the victim has attracted nation-wide attention to the Atlanta, Ga., occurrence in which drunken driving resulted in serious, possibly fatal, injuries to Margaret Mitchell, author of "Gone With the Wind."

Not only was the driver intoxicated, according to police report, but he was speeding on the wrong side of Atlanta's busy Peachtree street.

Ordinarily—and all too frequently—such occurrences involve persons known only in their own communities and receive no more than local mention, but in this instance an author whose first book has been translated into a dozen foreign languages, with sales approaching six million copies, was struck down by a careening car driven by a 28-year-old drunk.

"Driving while intoxicated" is a familiar charge here and in other cities, and unless the offense is responsible for an accident that results in property damage, injury or death, the penalty is quite likely to be mild.

It should be taken into account, however, in all such instances, that operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of alcohol involves frightful risks, and now that the Atlanta driver has sobered up in his jail cell he says: "I can only pray and hope that she gets well."

Tito Treads Dangerous Ground

THERE has often been wonderment at the bravado exhibited by Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia in his contention with Russia. Yugoslavia is very weak physically in relation to Russia, and is in a quite vulnerable position. In a recent speech Tito revealed the source of his courage: From the beginning, he said, Yugoslav leaders were confident that Russia would not make a military attack because "that would mean the end of socialism in the world."

Admiring the sureness of Tito in his estimate of Russian intentions, and the boldness with which he has acted on the basis of that estimate, Americans may be envious. But consideration of the Yugoslav position might give rise to qualms. If Tito is right, he has raised Yugoslav prestige. If he should be wrong, he is very far out on a slender limb.

Someone who keeps tab on such things comes up with information that in the last three years the Supreme Court has voted 5 to 4 on 86 occasions—which helps explain differences of opinion among lesser lights.

Truman's Slam At Pearson Boomerangs

IT ISN'T OFTEN that an attack on a newspaperman by the President of the United States boomerangs back in the space of four months. However it was only last February that President Truman, addressing the Reserve Officers Association in Washington, pinned the label "S.O.B." on Drew Pearson because Pearson had protested that the President's military aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, should not receive a medal from a South American dictator, President Peron of Argentina.

Today, in contrast, a Senate investigating committee has been pinning the five-percenter tag on the military aide in defense of whom President Truman hurled the S.O.B. charge.

Not only has General Vaughan been exposed as the man behind the Tanforan race track lobbying, which Pearson first pried loose three years ago, but also the strange links between the President's military aide and John Maragon plus other lobbyists have been brought into the open. Pearson, incidentally, was the first Washington newsman to show up the Vaughan-Maragon axis as early as March 17, 1947—more than two years ago.

In fact, a review of Washington Merry-Go-Round columns makes interesting reading in light of the present senate investigation. General Vaughan earned mention in the Merry-Go-Round from the first weeks Harry Truman became President, though not unfavorably and chiefly because of the Vaughanian humor.

Pearson told how Vaughan fed the squirrels on the White House lawn from a silver cream pitcher, how he ordered the buffalo heads on a White House table, presented by the Philippine hero, General Aguinaldo, removed because Vaughan bumped his knee on them and described the rivalry between Vaughan and jokester George Allen to tickle the funny bone of the President.

Significantly, Pearson commented as early as July 11, 1945—three months after Truman became president—that Vaughan was "the most powerful man in the Truman entourage." And again, as early as June 23, 1946, Pearson reported that "President Peron of Argentina plans to work through General Harry Vaughan to get arms from the U.S.A." This was two years before Peron awarded his now-famous medal to Vaughan.

It was on March 17, 1947, that Pearson first warned his readers that General Vaughan was not merely a White House clown but also a wire-puller in certain strange byways of Washington. It was then that the unique Vaughan-Maragon alliance was first revealed.

Finally, it was in February 1949 that Pearson claimed the Argentina medal was merely being given General Vaughan because of Argentina's desire to obtain a loan from the United States, and promptly brought down on his head the S.O.B. epithet from President Truman.

Washington Calling

Strike-Troubled Hawaii

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The trouble in Hawaii appears to be approaching a stage in which intervention by the federal government will be inevitable. This is what President Truman has tried to avoid, firmly rejecting all petitions to step into the middle of the bitter strike that has torn the Pacific paradise asunder.

Considerable resentment is felt here toward Hawaii's Governor Ingram M. Stainback. The feeling is that if Stainback had been less adamant and less determined to stamp out what he appears to be convinced is a communist attempt to seize control of the islands, the longshoremen's strike might have been settled peaceably some time ago.

Under Stainback's leadership the Hawaii legislature has now moved to take over the stevedore companies and break the strike by recruiting non-union workers. This move seems at present at least to be meeting with some success.

But the peril is that the strike may be communicated to other seafaring unions and the paralysis spread from Hawaii to ports on the mainland. That would necessitate intervention under the Taft - Hartley act, which is what the President has wanted to avoid.

Whether Harry Bridges' international longshoremen's and warehousemen's union is actually communist - controlled is, in a sense, beside the point. It is beside the point because the net effect of the strike is to strenghen the position of world communism in a vital and strategic spot.

* * *

Statehood Deferred.

A MAJOR effect of the 105-day-old, longshoremen's strike, with its communist charges and counter-charges, has been to stop the move for statehood for Hawaii. It is dead for this session of Congress and it will be difficult to revive it next session.

In the opinion of many familiar with the territory it is only through statehood that Hawaii can become truly a bastion of American democracy in the Pacific. Short of statehood with voting representation in Congress, every department in the islands will be scanted by a grudging congress.

So the vigorous move that had seemed to assure statehood for Hawaii and perhaps for Alaska, too, is brought to a standstill. The peoples of the islands are set against one another in deep hostilities that will not be soon erased. Hawaii's economy has been seriously disrupted.

These are the obvious consequences that accrue to communism that is everywhere interested in fomenting chaos and breakdown. There are secondary consequences almost as serious.

The hold the maritime unions have over Alaska is as arbitrary and as rigid as over Hawaii. Such a reasonable and liberal-minded man as Alaska's Governor Ernest Gruening has spoken both in public and in private of the way in which the development of the territory has been hampered by the arbitrariness of the union.

Alaska today is an ever-more strategic spot than Hawaii. Statehood is essential there, too, to develop the resources that can mean a strong and vital community.

The monopoly of the union is matched by a virtual monopoly on shipping held by the Alaska Steamship Co. Gruening has frequently protested the rates charged by the line and the limited service provided by a small number of ships.

This may well be a highly significant relationship. A business monopoly invites a union monopoly. The combination invites irresponsibility and arbitrary behavior — an open door to communism.

Frankly Speaking

Live People Walking

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — It's a little bit like living in a dream.

Dressed for summer, men and women stroll the streets of Washington and Moscow, talking, looking in the shop windows.

They'd like a little more money, maybe, and some more comforts and they'd like to live a long time.

Particularly, they'd like to live a long time. But somehow they've been caught up in something, an age-old something:

The conflict between people, ideas, desires, politics, economics, power.

And while they walk the streets, laughing in the sun their officials are in buildings in Washington and Moscow, talking.

The officials, in uniforms or civilian clothes, are planning and they're talking of death, death that seems remote now, in the future, but still death.

What the officials in the Moscow buildings are saying the people on the streets there don't know. They're not told.

But jet fighters shoot overhead. And you can be sure the things the Moscow officials talk about are not much different from the things the Washington officials talk about.

There's the atomic bomb, which the Russians are trying to make or maybe have made.

* * *

When Attack Comes.

AND HERE airforce officials tell a committee of Congress about the B-36.

It can travel 8,000 miles, it can fly at 40,000 feet. In an overcast at 40,000 feet jet fighters can't stop it, and it can carry atom bombs.

The beauty of the atom bomb, the airforce men say, although they don't refer to it as beauty, is this:

When planes drop ordinary bombs on a city, they have to go back every few weeks to drop some more to prevent rebuilding. But when they drop an atom bomb they don't have to return for a long, long time.

And there's the little business of arms. Why, yes, a general tells Congress, it's important to equip the French army in case of attack. Of the utmost importance, the general says.

And the Russians are probably talking about what an atom bomb could do to Washington, or Paris, and they're probably talking about a plane like the B-36 that could carry the bomb overseas.

Only a short time ago they let loose a dazzling pack of jet planes over Moscow.

But the sun is shining. Death seems far away. And the men and women, dressed for summer, stroll the streets. Life is like a tiger in their blood. They hope it never is subdued.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Douglas Restricted While Visiting Iran

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas found himself in a perplexing crossfire during his recent mountain-climbing trip in the hinterlands of Iran (ancient Persia).

On one hand he was the target of Soviet blasts as a "big devil spy," and on the other of Iranian censorship and iron-handed military control.

The Russian fulminations were publicized. But the Iron Curtain that Iran slammed down on Douglas has come to light only since his return to the U. S.

Shah Mohammed Riza Pahlevi, who comes to the U. S. in November, personally ordered the blackout on Douglas.

This is the untold story:

From American officials in Iran, Douglas learned that desperate famine conditions prevail in Azerbaijan, northwest province that adjoins Russia. A combination of extreme winter and severe spring drought had destroyed crops and most of the herds of the area. Hundreds have died of hunger. To the outrage of American authorities, the Iranian government has done very little to ameliorate the tragic situation.

In one notorious instance, even that little was looted for personal gains.

The military commander of the district diverted a 400-ton shipment of relief grain to private traders and pocketed the proceeds.

U. S. officials are profoundly concerned about the explosive Azerbaijan situation because it plays squarely into communist hands. Even under normal conditions, the historic area is one of the critical tinderboxes of the world.

Azerbaijan was occupied for several years by the Red army, which built a number of roads and made strenuous efforts to woo the tribesmen. Large red combat patrols still make occasional penetrations. Also, Russian agents abound, and are making the most of the Iranian government's incompetence, neglect and corruption.

Douglas's itinerary included a visit to Tabriz, capital of Azerbaijan. The day before he was to fly there, he had lunch with the shah. The young ruler talked a glowing line of reform and national development. But he froze up when Douglas mentioned casually his impending trip to Tabriz.

Two hours later, the U. S. embassy was officially notified that the shah had barred Douglas from flying to Azerbaijan.

Request for an explanation for this extraordinary action brought the reply, "Evil reports are emanating from there. The reports are unfavorable to the shah and the government."

Note: Although receiving huge oil royalties, the Iranian government tried to shake down the U. S. for 200,000 bushels of free grain for famine relief.

Seems Like Miracle.

THERE is something new under the sun! John L. Lewis and Interior Secretary Julius Krug are in harmonious agreement on the bill for more stringent mine-safety regulations and enforcement.

The measure was introduced by Senator Matt Neely, D., W. Va. In the past, Lewis has been a sulphurous critic of Krug and James Boyd, director of the U. S. bureau of mines.

They aided Neely in drafting the bill and, because of this, there was uncertainty as to Lewis's attitude. But he has given his blessing. Despite this unity, however, the legislation has made little headway.

Neely has complained to Democratic floor leaders about this. But, overwhelmed by a backlog of major priority measures, they have given him no assurance when his bill would be reached. Best outlook is not until next session.

Practical Joker.

NEW YORK'S Representative Vito Marcantonio follows a militant leftist line, but he has his light moments.

Stalking into the Democratic cloakroom, he entered a phone booth near a group of lounging congressmen. Leaving the booth door open so he could be heard, Marcantonio said to the operator, "I want Moscow, Russia, person-to person call. I want to talk to Premier Josef Stalin. Make it snappy."

The listening congressmen perked up their ears.

"What's that, operator" yelled Marcantonio. "You say the premier is busy and can't talk to me now? No, I don't want to talk to anyone else. Tell him I'll call later."

Marcantonio emerged from the booth with a dead-pan.

"You really weren't calling Stalin, were you" asked Representative Helen Gahagan Douglar, D., Calif.

"Sure I was," replied Marcantonio, still dead-pan. "I telephone the Kremlin three or four times a week to get the pitch. That's the way I know how to follow the party line. Get the dope right from headquarters."

Truman's Relatives.

DISCUSSING their family trees the other day, President Truman and freshman Congressman James Noland of Indiana decided they may be distantly related. Noland reported he had relatives in Missouri with the same name.

"So have I," said Truman. "In fact, I have two maiden aunts out there named Noland."

With a chuckle, the President wrote the name of one, Ethel Noland of Independence, Mo., on a slip of paper and handed it to the Indiana Democrat.

"Write her," he suggested. "She's a great authority on our family tree. Maybe she can establish a link between my family and yours."

Viewing the National Scene

Old Story, New Chapter

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON — It is easy, though perhaps dangerous to morals and morale, to be blase about the smooth-talking, confidentially speaking gentry who constantly infest this city with their glib, first - name chatter about the "insiders" they know in government and how they can fix up the poor, down-trodden businessman.

We have it all over again now in the investigation of the five percenters.

It is a temptation to be a bit cynical, especially if you have dug up this sort of stuff as a reporter, watched it unfold before investigations, for over a quarter of a century.

Going way back to the early nineteen - twenties, the prohibition era, when one of the most profitable rackets was "protection" for bootleggers from the federal government.

Which recalls, incidentally, the story of the goldfish bowl set up on a table in a hotel room here where the liquor dealers dropped their fat rolls of "protection" currency.

Then, coming on down to gentleman whose operations were laid bare in the late nineteen - twenties by the Caraway lobby investigation. Simple operations, but oh, so profitable!

He hired himself a small office, bought a library of half a dozen books about taxes, tariffs and the like and milked gullible big corporations a thousand bucks a year for his "reports." He kept all sorts of businessmen stirred up, for handsome fees, about what Congress might do to them.

He reported how he had just seen "Old Jim" or "Old Joe" or "Old Tim" — statesmen to you. This racket netted him a bankroll in six figures in a few years.

More recently we have seen the "influence" business of bright and engaging fellows, once insiders in the New Deal regime, who went into what is called "the practice of law" and could get you in to see the right people and get your troubles fixed up. Usually they could. Furthermore, they did, for a fancy price. They are still operating.

All of the types mentioned are always with us. They are exposed from time to time. Then they lay low for while, go "underground." Regulations are made in government departments and agencies to stop their activities. But they always turn up again. The recent war, and now the "cold war," offer lots of suckers. So again we have a juicy, sensational story.

* * *

"Big Ones" Overlooked.

INHERENT in all this, keeping it alive, is the mystery that's thrown around government which this breed, of course, magnifies. Government these days is so tremendous that you don't know where all the pieces are all the time when you live with it daily.

The smaller businessman is rather helpless, is innocent, and is gullible where government is concerned. A fellow in the know is a tempting lure.

It makes a businessman quite a guy with his friends to have a "representative" or an "agent" here whom he can call long distance and who fills him in on stories about big shots in Washington that he can nonchalantly pass on, wisely, at the golf club.

Minor government officials are gullible in their way, too, so that when somebody who's supposed to have influence at the White House comes in to get something done, or intervene for a friend as in the case of Harry Vaughan, why they sit up and take notice. They've got to protect their jobs, too.

All of it adds up to what we are seeing again here today. It's bad government, often vicious, sometimes corrupt, and should be fully exposed and corrected once again — until the next time.

What we'd like to see around here, too, is an investigation of the really big operators, the quiet fellows you never hear about except perhaps in the society columns, who don't boast about it but do know the right people in Congress and really influence government policy.

Dave Boone Says:

"IN THE somber world situation of today I would be derelict if I discussed the lighter side of life instead of the serious issues which weigh on the heart." I keep thinking of those words delivered by ex-President Hoover the other night, on his 75th birthday.

* * *

If not only our national leaders but all citizens took as conscientious a view as that it would be a great break for the country. But our outstanding characteristic as a people has within two decades become a mad craze for the light and frivolous approach. Never have so many Americans been so little worried about so much.

* * *

But if founding fathers could take a look at Americans in the mass today they would assume it was either a comedy act or that we were all screwballs who had broken away from the keepers.

* * *

The country has had such a long spell of the jaunty-approach, big-smile routine in facing grave problems that it has real trouble taking anything seriously. When will we all wake up and realize that there is a difference between government and grab bags?

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

IT'S ALL right to investigate General Vaughan again but I don't think they should hint that some of his best friends are horses.

* * *

Apparently all the man did (if he did it) was help get a race track built to give homeless horse players somewhere to go.

* * *

The White House hasn't found a red herring so far in the new investigation . . . just horses.

* * *

And it is to be hoped it won't make any difference in Vaughan's status. . . . His troubles always make such good hot weather reading. For instance the deep freeze angle.

* * *

Anyway if it wasn't General Vaughan and horses it might be General Graham and oats again.

* * *

This may be what is meant by "stable government."

Timely Editorial

Youth and Auto Accidents.

As every parent knows, youth is quick on the trigger. But there is impressive evidence, too, that youth is too quick on the accelerator. This is one reason the cost of private automobile insurance has risen sharply in recent years.

A high executive of a leading casualty company reported recently that drivers under 25 have an accident rate 50 per cent higher than the average. He put the added cost of this tendency at $125,000,000 a year in terms of this kind of insurance. Two independent surveys, he said, have shown that drivers between 18 and 24 have proportionately more accidents and more fatalities than any other group.

This sort of explodes the prevailing notion that younger drivers are often better drivers because their reaction time is apt to be quicker. This is doubtless still true, but the added advantage in this direction is more than offset by the tendency of a lot of young drivers to take chances and to drive at high speeds.—Ohio State Journal.

MISS PRISCILLA SNYDER WED TO R. A. SEITZ

Rev. C. D. Snyder Officiated For Formal Double Ring Ceremony at Grace Gospel Church

Rev. C. D. Snyder was one of the officiating pastors at the wedding of his daughter, Miss Priscilla Snyder, 39 Bradford avenue, to Robert Armstrong Seitz, son of Mrs. Lucille Seitz, 373 Logan road, Sunday at the Grace Gospel church.

Rev. James E. Davey also officiated for the doublering open-church service at 2 p. m. Miss Elizabeth Burneson played nuptial music while Miss Mary Nash served as soloist.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. Snyder and the late Mrs. C. D. Snyder. She spoke her vows with the bridegroom before an altar banked with palms and two beauty baskets of pastel gladiolas. Two seven branch candelabra and a kneeling bench completed the setting.

Escorted down the aisle by her father, the bride wore a white slipper satin gown with a net drop shoulder neckline, edged in Chantilly lace. The gown had long sleeves which ended in points over her wrists. It was fashioned with a tight-fitting bodice and full skirt which extended into a short train.

Her headpiece was a crown of beads and rhinestones holding her finger tip length nylon veil which was edged in Chantilly lace. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

The bridal bouquet was made of shattered and whole white carnations, centered with a large purple orchid and tied with satin streamers.

Mrs. Robert Fraley of Galion, the bride's sister, served as matron of honor, attired in a gown of aqua marquisette fashioned with a square neckline covered with tiny satin bows and a hoop skirt.

Miss Esther Rose Snyder, the bride's sister, and Miss Rheta Anne Ballintine, her cousin, were selected as bridesmaids. Their gowns were styled like the matron of honor's in an orchid color.

All the attendants wore shoulder length veils of contrasting color and necklaces which were gifts from the bride. The flower girl was the bride's cousin, Jeanette Snyder, who wore a pink gown styled like the other attendants. Paul Hammer, a cousin of the bride, served as ring-bearer.

The attendants all carried colonial bouquets with contrasting backgrounds. The bridegroom's mother wore a grey and navy print dress with navy acessories and a pink rosebud corsage.

Richard M. Seitz, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man. The ushers were Rev. Robert Fraley of Galion, the bride's brother-in-law, Edwin Schmidt, Robert Hahn and Jack Shellhaas, all friends of the couple.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 275 guests was held at the home of the bridegroom's mother. The large serving table was centered with a five-tiered wedding cake in white and orchid topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. The reception was held out-of-doors.

Hostesses were Miriam Hardy, Dorothy Johnson of Dayton, Vivian Latham, Alice Rhoades and Mrs. Richard Shomon, a sister of the bride.

For traveling to Cleveland the bride was attired in an ice green dress with a white design and a green linen jacket. Her acessories were white.

Upon their return the couple will reside at 384½ McPherson street, after Aug. 21.

Mrs. Seitz is a graduate of Mansfield Senior High school. She attended St. Paul Bible Institute in St. Paul, Minn. At the time of her marriage she was employed by the Tracey & Avery company. Her husband attended Madison High school and is an employe of the Erie Railroad company.

Out-of-town guests were present for the wedding from Michigan, Dayton, Galion, Ashland and Akron.

Food Show To Be Held Nov. 10

The date for the annual Cleveland Food Show has just been set for November 10 through 18 at Cleveland Public Hall, according to today's announcement by Walter W. Knight, show manager and secretary of the Cleveland Retail Retail Grocers' Association which sponsors this exposition.

The 1949 edition of the Food and Home Show will be the 61st annual presentation of this public event which has grown to be the largest food show in the nation. More than a million dollars worth of food products and home appliances will be shown in this exposition by exhibitors from almost every state. Even at this early date, Mr. Knight reports that nearly half of the available exhibit space has been contracted for by exhibitors.

In addition to the producers of food lines and appliances who exhibit regularly in this annual exposition, Knight states that many new exhibitors will show their products at the Cleveland Food Show this year.

As is the usual custom, the Food Show will be open for eight days and nights from November 10 through 18 but will be closed Sunday, November 14. More than 110,000 visitors from Ohio and neighboring states attended the Cleveland Food Show last year.

So many women between the ages of 38 and 52 have good reason to hate 'change of life' — the time when fertility ebbs away — when embarrassing symptoms of this nature may betray your age!

If this functional period makes you suffer from hot flushes or makes you feel so weak, nervous, restless, hard to live and work with — try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. Women by the thousands have reported remarkable benefits. No other medicine of this type for women has such a long record of success.

Regular use of Lydia Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such middle-age distress. The woman's friend!

Nervous Breakdown Can Be Cured With Proper Care

If someone close to you suffers a nervous breakdown, you can and should assure all concerned that it's a temporary illness and, with proper care, curable.

Describing this type of illness as "more common these days than ever," writer Agnes Marshall explains why it can happen to anyone and how your family doctor or a psychiatrist can effect a permanent recovery.

"A nervous breakdown," says the article, "is a general term that covers anything from excessive fatigue to a major psychosis," in reality, the author adds, "it may mean a depressed state of mind and a temporary psychological illness or an emotional illness brought on by fears and anxieties with which the patient has been wrestling for years."

Flatly debunking the idea that a person with a nervous breakdown is a mental case, the article says that such a condition "is no reflection on strength of character or stability of mind." For instance, the author explains, a perfectly normal woman who fears her marriage is in jeoprdy might, by booding and worrying, strain her nerves to the breaking point. Or a young lawyer, on the eve of an important court case, might experience a complete emotional collapse under the pressure of his intensive preparation and the fear of defeat. In both cases, according to the article, the doctor who can assuage the fears and inspire confidence in the patient will be able to help him recover.

The idea that only women have nervous breakdowns is called old - fashioned by the author. "Doctors know," she says, "that just as many men suffer from them as women." Another erroneous theory exploded by the article is that nervous breakdowns, as a rule, come on suddenly. "Most of the time," Miss Marshall explains, "it just seems to have broken out of a clear sky when, as a matter of fact, it has been building up over a long period of time."

Shower Fetes Miss Dune, Bride-Elect of Mr. Sturts

The first in a series of showers honoring Miss Della Dune, bride-elect, was given at the home of her mother, Mrs. Joseph Dune, 135 South Glenn avenue. Mrs. William Dune served as the associate hostess.

Twenty-two guests were in attendance when games were the diversion of the evening. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. E. Berry, Miss Helen Comisford and Mrs. Jack Leonard, who in turn presented them to the honoree.

Miss Dune was presented her gifts in a miniature wheel barrow decorated in pink and green. This was topped with matching umbrellas.

Refreshments were served at a late hour from a table decorated in green and pink with small paper umbrellas as favors.

Miss Dune will wed Wayne A. Sturts Saturday, August 20, in St. Luke's Lutheran church instead of in the First Lutheran church as it was previously planned. The nuptials for the formal ceremony will take place at 3:30 o'clock.

LOMBARDO SPEAKS

We all have our "favorites" For example, your favorite meal may be a steak smothered in onions Mine's a sandwich

Who's your favorite piano player? Templeton? Frankie Carle? Art Tatum?

Let me tell you about mine

More years ago than I care to remember, my brother Carmen and I got the urge to form a little band Papa had paid out his hard-earned money to educate Carm on the flute and me on the violin Well, the kid next door played piano, so we formed a three piece band We started playing at church socials and similar affairs and a few years later my brother Lebert and his drums joined our little band Well the years rolled by and our little four pieces expanded gradually to our current sixteen My brother Carm added the saxophone to his repertoire, Lebert switched from his drums to the trumpet and I finally got tired of lugging my fiddle from city to city and began conducting with a baton instead of a violin bow

But the kid from next door in London, Ontario, Canada stuck to his piano.

Came that day in Cleveland when this piano player, now grown to manhood along with the rest of us, called me over in between dance sets and introduced me to a very lovely girl whom he had known for some time The very lovely girl soon afterwards became Mrs Guy Lombardo and it has been Lillebell who has been my inspiration and who has offered me every encouragement through many happy years

The funny thing is that somewhere along the line our piano player picked up the oddly inappropriate nickname of Enemy ' I don't have to tell you that regardless of whether your favorite piano player is Carmen Cavellero or Elliot Lawrence mine is my very good friend the kid from next door, Fred Kreitzer

* * *

What's your favorite song? Maybe it's Stardust ' or Begin the Beguine " or the currently popular "Everywhere You go "

Or maybe your tastes lie along more classical lines Maybe it's the Habanera from 'Carmen" or the Celestial March from ' Aida "

Mine is a song called "Love Is Great ' You mean you've never heard of it I can't say that I blame you if the song eludes your memory For all I know there may be a dozen songs with that title, and you may be thinking of one that you've heard But I'll wager it's not the same 'Love Is Great" that I'm talking about

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, August 16

It might be well to refrain from any definite attempt to bring to a close or to force pending issues until the planetary operations have time for incubation along constructive lines. A sort of lull in procedures perhaps would allow projects, plans and policies to ripen, while things develop normally along already formulated ideas and wisely considered objectives. Judgment is likely to be somewhat uncertain or befogged, so that a suspended cohesive force might favor ripened constructive plans to come to a head unhampered

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves anchored in a more or less obscure or uncertain state of mind, with opposing forces or influences working in opposite directions It might be advisable to pursue hands-off policy, since there are constructive plans and measures already well on the way for skillful manipulation, with ingenuity and innovations up for logical development, minus any decidedly active interference from a possible false move or wrong mental slant The element of time, with logical and orderly steps of procedure, could convert a separative or opposing factor into a cohesive and amalgamating force, surprising and unpredictable, springing from the temporary delay.

A child born on this day might be slow in its mental processes, profiting by letting important decisions ride.
